of gratitude from the Nation which was trying to put the case of the soldiers on as case of the men to whom the Government businesslike, unsentimental basis as saved, to the men who saved it.

We are

NATIONAL TRIBUNE (ESTABLISHED 18.7.)

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

One Dollar per Year, Invariably in Advance.

Els months, 75 cents. No subscription for a less period received.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT. MONEY sent us, otherwise than by registered letter, postal mancy order, or draft on New Fork, will be at the risk of the sender, AGENTS .- We employ no agenta. THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE has many volunteer convassers, and they are generally honest and faithful; but persons who confide their subscriptions to them must be their own judges of their responsibility. The paper will be sent only on receipt of the subscription price.

ADDRESSES, RENEWALS, Fig. - Addresses will be changed as often as desired, but each subscriber should in every case give the old as well as new address, In renewing, subscribers should be careful to send us the label on the last paper received, and specify any corrections or changes they desire made in name or ad-

CORRESPONDENCE .- Correspondence is solicited from every section in report to Grand Army, Pension, Military, Agricultural, Industrial and Household matters, and letters to the Editor will always receive prompt attention. Write on ONE SIDE of the paper only. We do not return communications or manuscripts unless they are accompanied by a request to that effect and the necessary postage, and under no circumstances pueranter their publication at any special date.

Address all communications to THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE Washington, D. C.

ENTERED AT THE MASHINISTON POST OFFICE AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

NGTON, D. C., NOVEMBER 3, 1887.

IN THE VALLEY .- The Shenandoah Campaign of 1862. By Gen. Henry Capehart, Fargo, Dak.

THE REGULARS .- Loyalty of the Rank and File in 1861. By Frank Y. Commagere. ACROSS THE PLAINS .- A Narrative of a Wild Western Trip in 1867. By W. Thornton Parker, late Acting Assistant Surgeon, U.S. A. Newport, R. I.

ON TO RICHMOND .- A Graphic Narrative ordered out, the survivors of the men whon of Capture and Captivity. By George B. Lee commanded were given a conspicuous Oranford, Co. G. 1st W. Va., Wellsburg, W. Va. and honorable part, the school children were HAWKINS'S ZOUAVES .- The First Bayo- assembled to hear treason eulogized, and the net Charge. By J. H. E. Whitney, Sergeant, people gathered from all parts of the State Co. B. 9th N. Y., New York City.

FLASHING SABERS .- The Michigan Cav- Every sentence spoken by the orators that aley Brigade at Gettysburg. Second Paper. day was in praise of rebellion, and every By John A. Bigelow, 5th Mich. Cav., Pontiac, feature of the grand pageant was an elo-

PERRYVILLE.-The Battle as Seen by an | was to have fought against the Government Artilleryman. By W. H. Ball, 5th Wis. Battery, Eden, Dak.

CAHABA PRISON .- Life and Death in this | plause, made Lee the peer of Washington. Place of Confinement. By G. J. Trenaman. LEWISBURG.—Campaigning and Fighting in West Virginia. By John T. Booth, Sergeant, Co. G. 36th Ohio, Hartwell, O.

CHICKAMAUGA .- The Part Taken by the 82d Ind. By Hon. Morton C. Hunter, Colonel 82d Ind.

THE "WILD CATS."-Something About the 105th Pa. By "K. M. S."

PORT HUDSON .- A Spirited Account of this Important Siege and Battle. By Wilber H. Webber, Lampasas, Tex.

PICK AND SHOVEL .- Campaigning with the Engineers. By Walter H. Parcels, Co. D, 50th N. Y. Eng., Lewiston, Pa.

A SUPPLEMENT.

We publish a Supplement to this week's paper to accommodate matter crowded over from the regular pages.

EXTRA COPIES.

If you get an extra copy of THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE give it to some one who is not a subscriber, but should be.

Dickens's Works.

Fifteen Cloth-Bound Books for $6

We have come in possession of a number of complete sets of the works of Charles Dickens -the greatest of modern novelists-which we will offer to subscribers of THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE very cheap. These contain the following novels and sketches complete and una-

Pickwick Papers Oliver Twist. David Copperfield Great Expectations Pictures from linly. American Notes. Dombey and Son. larnaby Rudge. alwin Drood. Nicholas Nickleby, Old Curiesity Shop

Blenk House. Our Mutual Friend. Little Dorrit. Tale of Two Cities A Message from the Sea Sketches by Boz. Hard Times. Martin Chuzzlewit Child's History of Eng-

These volumes each contain about 800 pages as to be scarcely able to move, and what a yell of large, clear print, with illustrations by noted | went up from the thousands of throats for "Jeff | thirds of every "dollar" that it paid him. They are a library in themselves. Davis, our President!" To add to the excitement They are strongly bound in cloth and contained of the moment, Miss Winnie stepped to the railing in a next pasteboard box, and will be sent by and tore a stripe from the banner relic, which she express to any subscriber on receipt of $6-the kissed and pinned to her bosom. purchaser to pay express charges. These will make a handsome holiday present to any boy or girl. It is much the best cheap edition of Dickens to be obtained on ywhere.

CAPTURING A LOCOMOTIVE.

All persons wishing to engage in the canvass of this thrilling book will find it to their advantage to address THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE for terms, etc. It is one of the best-selling books of the times, and those already engaged in its sale are highly gratified at the handsome returns name. We also send the book as a premium for eight new subscribers, or for $2 in conjunction with a year's subscription to THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE.

FAGGIS FROM THE CARPFIRE.

This most exciting book of adventure is now offered for the small sum of 50 cents, or free for a club of five new yearly subscribers to THE NATIONAL TELBUNE. No soldier who reads her people to glory with her to-day. Her glory is this book can fail to be deeply interested, as in her history. Her history is the memory of her the most thrilling adventures and hair-breadth | dead, and this day is consecrated to her Confederescapes are told in a way to bring back vividly ate dead. to the mind the days of '61-5.

SEVERAL of the toady papers still keep banging away at Gen. Fairchild. Thanks to this abuse, he may be the next President of the United States.

If each subscriber to THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE will charge himself with getting one new subscriber the circulation of the paper will be doubled at once, and with little trouble. European thought, was American born. Red with Let each subscriber try it.

HALTI Certainly the time has arrived when not only the G.A.R., but every man who thinks that this country and its glorious institulic consideration are that they fought skilfully, bravely and long to perpetuate slavery and destroy the Government which our fathers founded and whose blessings we enjoy. The beginning and the completion of these memorials are made the occasions for great public ceremonials, in which highest officials take part and entire communities participate. Flags and other mementoes of rebellion are paraded as relics of a sacred cause, and speeches are made by the most prominent men of the section, in which the acts of these heroes of treason in precipitating and waging the most causeless and wicked war in history are glorified as deeds eration is being taught in the most impressive way that there is no honor that can come to men like that which is won by plunging a peaceful country into a bloody war, and maintaining the struggle until it has ex-

Every year-almost every month-sees these astounding demonstrations become larger and more impressive, and the utterances at them become bolder and more revo-

The past week has seen the most imposing public demonstration in the history of Virginia take place on the occasion of laying the corner-stone of a monument to R. E. Lee, a man whose sole claim to popular consideration rests upon the readiness with which he offered his sword to the rebellion, and the success with which he commanded the armies arrayed against his country. The ceremonies were conducted by no less a person than the Governor of Virginia, assisted by the whole body of public functionaries.

The militia of the Commonwealth was to do honor to the dead hero of Secession.

quent reminder of how glorious a thing it of the United States. The poem of the occasion, which was greeted with loud ap-

These two shall ride immortal

Shall light up stately history

And blaze in epic rhyme-

And shall ride abreast of Time,

Both patriots, both Virginians true,

On the very same day there was a scene of equal significance in a city hundreds of miles to the south of Richmond. Jefferson

Davis, who was the civil head of the so-called "Southern Confederacy," paid a visit to Macon, Ga., where he was received with honors such as in Europe are paid to Kings securely enthroned in the love of their people. One portion of the occurrences of the day is thus described by an Associated Press

Mr. Davis, surrounded by his wife and daughters,

Gov. Gordon, Senator Colquitt and others, stood multuous yelling. "God bless Jeff Davis!" and

"Long live our President!" were repeatedly heard.

Such crowding, such excitement and such yelling was unparalleled in past war history. The veterans fairly went mad with joy at the privilege of greeting, perhaps for the last time, the last hope of the Confederacy. Following the cavalry, which led the procession, came the remnant of the 3d Ga.,

As Mr. Davis caught sight of the banner he raised himself up by a supreme effort and kissed its historic folds. With the assistance of Senator Colquitt

he waved the colors over the heads of the crowds, which were thrown into a delirium of cestasy by unceasingly, and it was not until it was announced that Mr. Davis desired to speak that the exultant multitude could be induced to desist from shouting. Supported at either side by his wife and daughters, he took a corner of the flag in his hand, tears streamed down his wrinkled cheeks and his

the strain of the moment, with eyes red with hot, scalding tears, Mr. Davis presented a touching picture. His family were moved to tears by the sight. They well knew how seriously any exertion affects his enfecbled energies, but they were powerless to interfere. He would speak, and this is

"Friends and Brethren: I am like that flag, torn a memento of what your fathers did. God bless

When he had concluded he was helped into his chair, and for several minutes he was so prostrated

In the evening the immense assemblage was addressed by Gen. Henry Jackson, who fought through the war for the so-called Confederacy, and was lately our Minister to

CONFEDERATE VETERANS: There stands upon the within the life of the present generation was the so-called traitor, leader of a so-called lost cause. We,

Confederate veterans, relies of the armies which fought for that cause, are here to meet him, to move before litm in the pride and pomp of no Roman triumph, it is true, but, bending our necks to no

Roman yoke of subjugation, by invitation of the State of Georgia, speaking through her duly empowered officials, all have come. Behold majestic truth revealing berself! State sovereignty is not dead. Georgia is a sovereign still, and calls upon

Encouraged by the wild applause which greeted this outburst, he went on to denounce het Northern people as "the real traitors," and to denounce those " who made aggressive war upon the people of the South." He con-

The principle for which we fought, the only principle of Government expansive enough to meet the requirements of advancing civilization made the blood of Confederate heroes, moist with the tears of Confederate widows and orphans, eastward

cluded with this amazing outbreak :

Mexico. He opened his speech as follows:

what he said

you; I will see you again."

carrying a melancholy-looking fragment of the old on the porch and bowed in recognition of the tu-

Both "rebels," both sublime.

hausted its men and treasure.

the loftiest patriotism. The rising gentorially command "Halt!"

tions are worth preserving should perempof a so-called lost cause. * * * If the so-called new South be a base surrender of the old, a false confession, meanly false, of shame No man who loves his country ever so litin our past, shame in our sires, shame in our dead, which none but the silliest fool can honestly feel, tle can fail to be alarmed at the rapid and then with all the power given to us by the God of daring progress made in the exaltation of truth we cry: Avaunt, false South! avaunt, rotten treason. Monuments are rising all over trunk upon a cursed root, thy fruit must turn to the South to men whose only claims to pub-

light of the Christian civilization all around the globe; and so surely as it moves it shall bring the day of final triumph. In that triumphal procession

Abraham Lincoln shall not move as the rightful President, but Jefferson Davis, the so-called traitor, leader

If these manifestations were sudden outbreaks, provoked by some unusual concatenation of circumstances, they would not have such an alarming significance. But, unfortunately, this is not the case. On the contrary, they are the crest-waves of a steadily rising tide. We can compare the utterances and demonstrations of this year with those of last, and those of last with those of the year before, and see how rapidly the tide is rising. The eulogists of rebellion become bolder continually, and the demonstrations are more and more openly glorifications of hostility to our country and its institutions. Last year, for example, no Southern orator had the temerity to address a gathering of Union veterans with an assertion of the superior patriotism of those who fought for the Confederacy, and a proposition to "quarter" the Confederate flag upon the Star-Spangled Banner, as was done this year at Richmond. Year before last no orator would have had the effrontery to declare that the arrival of Jeff Davis at Atlanta was the most "glorious event since the resurrection morn," as was done last year. Last year no man would have ventured-as Gen. Jackson has this year-to assert that the future will regard Jeff Davis as the rightful President, instead of Abraham Lincoln. It was not until this year that a President of the United States dared to offer to "return to the Confederate States" the flags which those who fought for disunion had wrested away from them on the field of battle. There is an unmistakable effort-strong, concerted and persistent, to exalt treason at the expense of loyalty-to make the worse appear the better part-to inculcate upon the minds of the youth of a great portion of the country the lesson that the men who conspired and fought to destroy the Nation were exalted heroes, while those who resisted them were actuated by base motives, and were inferior to them in courage, devotion to principle, and the highest traits of manhood.

It is the duty of the loyal people to command a stern halt to this terribly pernicious movement, and to assert, in thunder tones, if need be, that the rebellion was wholly and eternally wrong, and the cause of the Union wholly and eternally right. They must do this as a duty to themselves, to the whole country, and to the generations to come, that they may be unvexed by rebellion and unharmed by traitor plots.

LET THE NATION PAY ITS DEBTS. The first duty of a Nation, as of a man, is to pay its honest debts. Honest debts may be for money loaned, for property purchased, or for services rendered.

The laws and the public sentiment of every country hold that where there is any distinction made among these classes of indebtedness that the obligations for personal service shall take precedence of other claims. We have statutes on the books of every State in this country providing that a workmen's wages shall be a preferred claim at all times. Most States provide that a mechanic's lien shall take precedence even of a mortgage.

This is the plain, legal business basis upon which rests the claims of the veterans of the Union armies. There is a money debt due and business principles, has precedence of all claims for money loaned or merchandize purchased. The Government cannot in honor or justice dispose of its surplus cash on hand, or reduce its revenues until it has satisfied this class of creditors to the last dollar this extraordinary display. The yelling kept up of their just claims.

But it is claimed that the Government has paid the soldiers according to the strict letter of the contract. This is far from true, as can be easily shown. voice grew husky with emotion. Trembling under

1. The Government promised each man who enlisted from 1861 to the latter part of 1863 $13 a month. This meant at that time | right. standard dollars worth 100 cents in gold. Instead it paid him paper promises to pay and torn and tattered by storms and years. I love | gold, which steadily depreciated in value Thus, in a majority of instances, it defrauded each man who followed its flag in war time of this it refused to pay him any bounty and when it did pay him it was in paper promises to pay gold, which were worth from soil of Georgia the distinguished Mississippian who 35 cents, upward. Thus, instead of carrying out its contract in this case to the letter, it repudiated it altogether in a vast number of instances, and when it did pay anything it only gave about one-third of the sum promsed at enlistment. 3. It promised to provide adequately for those who should become disabled in its service, and to support properly the widows, children or dependent relatives of those who should die or be killed. Instead of doing this it has "stood off" tens of thousands of disabled veterans with beggerly little allowances of from $1 to $4 a month, with correspondingly inadequate amounts for the severer disabilities, and for the widows, minor children and dependent relatives, while tens of thousands more are unable to get any relief whatever, and are either in of late by Giadstone's eloquence so familiar to the poorhouses and Soldiers' Homes of the country, or are on the point of going thither.

was indebted for money loaned. Yet how different has been the treatment of these two classes of creditors. The man who loaned the Nation money has been punctiliously repaid, to the letter of his contract. In the opinion of many statesmen the Nation went far beyond the letter to pay him what he was not entitled to in law or equity. the other hand the man who gave it personal service of the highest possible character, involving untold discomforts and enormous dangers of life, limb and health has been made the victim of a practice so sharp as to closely trench on dishonesty. Where one thing was promised when the need was great, quite another was given when the emergency was past. Where a dollar of one kind was stipulated when the service was solicited, a dollar worth much less was paid when the service was rendered. Liberal promises during the time of need have been construed with pettifogging cunning after the danger was fought off. The soldiers of the country demand, and they have the right to demand, that the debt owed them shall be viewed in the same way as the debt owed the money-lendersthat the same high, broad pinciples shall control its payment-that the Nation shall not resort to shabby tricks and juggling with the letter of its contract to deprive them of the rights which are theirs by any just and liberal interpretation of the agreement which the Nation made with them when they made great personal and pecuniary sacrifices to secure its salvation.

They demand a hearing in equity before the court of the whole people, and they demand also that the Nation shall not impair its ability to pay them their just dues until this verdict be rendered. They waited patiently, and paid taxes submissively, until the bondholders were gorged. They were willing that the hungry money-lenders should sit at the first table and stuff themselves to repletion. Now they claim that they should be allowed to come to the second table, and have a plain meal where the others have been banqueted.

It will be dishonest to make any reduction of the revenues while these meritorious creditors remain uppaid, and every soldier should make it his duty to enter an emphatic protest through the press, in political gatherings, to his Representatives in Congress, and wherever else he can make his voice heard, against any disposition of the surplus, or any diminution of the National income until the arrears of pensions are paid, the bounties equalized, the disabled veterans in and out of the almshouses are provided for, the widows, orphans, and dependent parents are properly taken care of, and, in short, the recommendation of the National G.A.R. Pension Committee enacted into law.

Let the watchword be: "No reduction of the revenue until the Nation's debts are

If each subscriber to THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE will charge himself with getting one new subscriber the circulation of the paper will be doubled at once, and with little trouble. Let each subscriber try it.

AS TO THOSE MONUMENTS.

done by the 21st National Encampment was the emphatic prohibition of any Post or other organization of the Order participating them which, according to recognized legal in any ceremony connected with the erection of a monument to a man who was prominent in the rebellion.

> It is amazing that any comrade should be so forgetful of his duty as a citizen, of the principles for which he fought, and of the fundamental ideas of the Order as to take part in any of these glorifications of treason.

There is absolutely no defense for it Talk about "conciliation," fraternization," "extinction of sectional hate," "honoring brave men who fought for what they believed to be right," is wretched sophistry. It is a wicked obscuration of principles of eternal rades of the G.A.R. to extinguish sectional hate and promote the development of good it for its own sake. I love it for yours-I love it as until they were only worth 35 cents in gold. feeling among the men who were lately in arms against us. No men are readier than we are to admit the bravery and devotion of an amount varying from one-third to two- of these men. But there is a certain hard the country. and fast line beyond which no veteran-2. It promised to pay each of these men | man who really loves his country can go. This who enlisted for three years a bounty of is that the rebellion was utterly and inde-$100. This also meant 100 dollars each of fensibly wrong; that there was never any which was worth 100 cents in gold. Instead | reason for beginning the war, and that it was continued in stubborn persistence in whatever in a large number of instances, wrong-doing. While we may not hate these men because they did not know any better than to begin and continue an unjustifiable war, which the conscience of the whole civilized world condemns, we certainly cannot so far forget principle as to extol them because they did wrong.

This, though, is precisely what any man does who joins in erecting monuments to Lee, Stonewall Jackson, Albert Sidney Johnston, Hood, etc. The cause to which they devoted their great abilities was flagrantly wrong, a fact which does not depend upon the say-so of those who were victorious in the struggle, but"is the verdict of the whole world. Even the vanquished say to-day that their success would have been an enormous misfortune. What excuse, then, can there be for glorifying men whose sole claim for distinction above other men is that they were tremendous obstacles in the way of right prevailing over wrong?

Nor is this wholly a matter of sentiment These are the plain, hard facts of the case, fices in order to overcome these men and UNE.

shall it continue to roll, carrying with it the blessed | divested of all sentiment-all considerations | frustrate their designs. It is a matter of deepest concern to every man who cares for the peace and prosperity of the country. It is to no man's interest that rebellion should be encouraged and the rising generation be taught that public love and gratitude and enduring fame await men who seize any pretext to plunge the country into a bloody and destructive war. The vicious influence of this monument-raising and oratorical apotheosization of rebellion is not confined to to-day. If it was it would be of less consequence, for we know too well the frightful cost of a civil war to be much swayed by it. But the generations that come after us will know nothing of the awful expenditure of blood and treasure that the suppression of the rebellion required, and they will be the easier dazzled by this wicked painting of the glories to be achieved in wrecking the country's peace and prosperity.

> Have you done your share toward doubling THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE'S circulation?

THE NATIONAL PENSION COMMITTEE

Commander-in-Chief Rea has done eminently proper thing in reappointing the National Pension Committee without any change except that made necessary by the election of John C. Linehan as Junior Vice Commander-in-Chief. Past Department Commander John W. Burst, of Illinois, was put in Comrade Lineban's place. This is an excellent selection, for Comrade Burst is as well fitted by nature, experience and education for the place as any man in the Order. He is a large-souled, big-brained, active man, and an enthusiastic comrade. Comrades Merrill, Tanner, Wagner and Kountzthe other members of the Committee-are unquestionably the best fitted for that work of any men in the Order, because of their long and rich experience. This is the sixth year of their service in that capacity, and the knowledge they have gained in that time of the temper of individual Senators and Representatives, and of Congress as a whole, of the proper way of setting to work to secure desired legislation, of what can be done and what is useless to attempt, is invaluable to the comrades. The coming sesportant to the soldiers of the country ever held. It is very essential to the veterans that their interests shall be in the charge of men of such proved ability and long experience as those who constitute the National Pension Committee. At each of the four last National Encampments they have been able to give an excellent account of their stewardship for the preceding year, and we feel confident that they will be able to give a still better one to the 22d National Encampment when it assembles next year of Aug. 4, 1886, 1; Supplemental Act Aug.

If each subscriber to THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE will charge himself with getting one new subscriber the circulation of the paper will be doubled at once, and with little trouble. Let each subscriber try it.

"BULL RUN" OR "MANASSAS." EDITOR NATIONAL TRIBUNE: Will you please tell us where the battle of Manassas was fought, and was it ever called by any other name? This is to settle a dispute, and you will greatly oblige by answering .- L. M. BERKLEY, Walnut, Bureau Co.,

There were two battles fought on what are sometimes called "the plains of Manassas"-or a section of Northern Virginia lying south and west of the stream called Bull Run where a tributary known as Young's Branch enters it. The first of these was fought July 21, 1861, and the second Aug. 30, 1862. Not the least, by far, of the good things | The rebels usually speak of these as the "first and second battles of Manassas," while the Union writers call them the "first and second battles of Bull Run."

> Have you done your share toward doubling THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE'S circulation ?

THE Army seems to have fallen into as low estate as the Navy. A California Sheriff is out after Capt. Shaw and his command with blood in his eye and a posse at his back. He threatens to wipe the troops off the face of the earth unless they surrender to him unconditionally. The Attorney-General of California advises Gen. Howard to order his troops to surrender and save bloodshed, but Gen. Howard refuses to take any action without an order from the President and Secretary of War. Meanwhile the No men have done more than the com- rampant Sheriff is gradually closing in on the devoted Regulars, who are probably engaged in throwing up rifle-pits and constructing abatis. It seems to us that it didn't use to be the custom of the United States Army to let a little Sheriff chase it around

IT IS not the G.A.R. which is "keeping alive the fires of sectional hate," but the men who are getting up ovations to the political chief of a sectional rebellion, who are by a great many leading men of the party, who parading as "holy relics" flags under which the hosts of revolt and insurrection were marshalled in battle, who teach the rising generation that their fathers and kinsmen who fell in the Confederate ranks "died in a sacred cause." The G.A.R. is National, It has nothing to do with sections-North, South, East or West; it regards only the whole country. It opposes any sectional man or measure. Its members did not fight for any State or section, but for the whole Nation. They gathered from every State in the Union to fight for the Union, and when the fight was won they dispersed again to every State and Territory in the Union. They are more truly and broadly National than any other class of men in the Nation.

THE philosopher of the Somerville Journal, who has often wrestled with the problem whether it was better to lend a man money or lose his friendship, comes to the sage conclusion that the average friendship is never worth more than $20.

The best way to heip the soldiers is to extend

SEND IN YOUR NAMES.

THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE desires to make up a complete roster of the survivors of every regiment, battery or other organization that served in the war. It asks, therefore, that every veteran who reads this paper send in his name, rank, company and regiment on a postal. We will also be very glad if he will take the trouble to send us the names, companies and regiments of such of his soldier acquaintances as may be con-

"A BOY SPY IN DIXIE."

This week we give the second instalment of the thrillingly interesting "Boy Spy in Dixie." It is even a better chapter than last week's was, and it will go on increasing in interest to the end. It describes a portion of the service as to which every one is curious, and of which no one has yet written. The author had a most unusual experience. accuracy of his narration is vouched for by several very high officials, with whom he had dealings, and for whom he performed services. Back numbers containing the beginning of the story can be supplied to those who subscribe now.

Have you done your share toward doubling THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE'S circulation ?

SEVEN representatives of each of the following regiments, viz: 70th, 71st, 72d, 73d and 74th N. Y., will meet at Cooper Union, room 31, New York city, on Wednesday, the 16th instant, at 3 p. m., in order to form a Brigade Association, whose objects shall be the selection of designs for the Gettysburg monuments, and the closer relationship in the future of the survivors of that glorious old command. Gens. Sickles, Graham and Tremain; Cols. Potter, Rafferty, Coyne, Leonard, Loundsbury and Mahan, and Majs. Purdy, Bullard and Toler, and Capts. Young, Kay, Steward, Noonan, Watt and Foote, of New York, have already signified their intention to be present. The Excelsior Brigade Organization hopes to dedicate its monument or monuments, as may be determined at this meeting, on the 2d of July next, and to be represented on that occasion by a large number of its surviving veterans. Comrades who served in any of the above regiments, and who desire further information, are requested to read the notice which appears in another column.

Report of certificates issued during week ending Oct. 29, 1887: Original,824; increase, 607; reissue, 61; restoration, 27; duplicate, 0; accrued, 62; arrears, 1; Act of March 3, 1883, 3; Order of April 3, 1884, 4; Act of March 3, 1885, 0; Order Oct. 7, 1885, 1; Act 4, 1886, 24; Mexican war, 400; total, 1,815; Reissue same date 0.

QUITE a number of comrades have written to us in reference to a statement made by Mrs. Frances Willard, the noted temperance lecturer, that a colored man had been rejected for membership in the G.A.R. of Massachusetts on account of his color. We made an inquiry of Comrade Alfred C. Monroe, Assistant Adjutant-General of the Department of Massachusetts, and we give his answer below:

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 24, 1887. EDITOR NATIONAL TRIBUNE: In reply to yours of the 20th I have to say I do not know of any Post in this Department that has rejected any man on account of color. Quite a number of Posts have colored men for members, and one Post elected a colored man for its Commander two years.-A. C.

Have you done your share toward doubling THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE'S circulation?

PERSONAL.

The New York papers speak very disparagingly of the Grant Mausoleum, which they say is a disgrace to the city. One of them describes it as a fairly good copy of an old-time Dutch bake-oven, done in variegated bricks, and it makes an unpleasant contrast to the tasteful tomb which was prepared at Cleveland for the last resting place of Gen. Gar-

Mrs. Lucy Webb Hayes, wife of the ex-President, last week presided over the sixth annual meeting of the Methodist Women's Home Missionary Society, which met at Syracuse, N. Y.

It will be remembered that Gen. Corse, now Postmaster at Boston, Mass., was the hero of the defense at Allatoona, which was made the basis of the well-known revival hymn, "Hold the Fort." Gen, Corse and Mr. McGuire, editor of the Repubic, of Boston, have been having a spirited controversy over the battle in question. The other day much amusement was caused by a blind streetfiddler posting himself near Mr. McGuire's sanctum and sawing out "Hold the Fort" with great vim and enguestness for some time. Some thought it was a part of the General's attack upon is editorial opponent, but this was not the case.

If Mrs. Kate Woodworth Scott Raymond Howe keeps on she will soon claim to have belonged to a large portion of the regiments which were in the service. Her first claim was that she was two years in the 27th Mass. Next we hear flut it was the 28th Mass., and last week it was the 22d Mass, and 37th Ill. If the fair Kate keeps on the boys will begin Gen. John McNulta has announced that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Illinois. This has been arged upon him want his fine military record and his great personal popularity placed at the service of the party. The remains of the late Hon. Elihu B. Washburn, whose death at Chicago was announced last week, were removed to his old home at Galena, where they were buried Oct. 26. The attendance upon the ceremonies was nearly as large at Galena as before at Chicago, and the body was accompanied by many people from the place where he

Maj Gen. Orlando B. Willcox, U. S. Army, who was recently retired from active service, has returned from his trip to Europe to locate in this city as Agent of the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company. He is residing at present at 1720 H street. Gen. Willcox in 1861 commanded the 1st Mich., which was raised at Detroit, and led the column which crossed the Potomac at Long Bridge on the morning of May 24, 1861. J. T. Woods, M. D., of Toledo, O., formerly Surgeon of the 99th Ohio, and the Surgeon of a Division in the Twenty-Third Corps, is a gentleman of fine taste and ability in literature. His writings are always welcomed by a large circle of interested readers. His latest is a pleasant little pamphlet on the "Exile of the Acadians,"-the historical episode on which Longfellow founded his beautiful story of "Evangeline." Dr. Woods describes the country of the Acadians, tells who these people were, why they were driven from home by the British, and how the expulsion was carried out, Every one who has read "Evangeline" should have the pamphlet.

First Licut, William H. McMinn, 8th U. S. Inf., was placed on the Army retired list Oct. 31, on November, 1865, and was a Captain of Infantry. He | Washington, entered the Regular Army in March, 1867, and has been a First Lieutenant since May, 1877.

Fresh honors are thrust upon Gen. Phil Shertfan. A pretty little baby zebra, just received from South Africa by the Philadelphia Zoological Garden, has been named after him. Gen. Joseph R. Hawley, the gallant comrade and Senator from Connecticut, arrived at the Ebbitt House here on Sunday to arrange for putting his house in order for his approaching wedding to Miss

MUSTERED OUT.

Hornor, of Philadelphia, and for residence during the coming session of Congress, ber of Julius Broadbent Post.

HALL,-Seth Hall, Co. F. 96th N. Y., at Dickinson Center, N. Y., Oct. 21. He was 55 years old and a member of Robbins Post, No. 462, New York, LUND,-At Milwankee, Wis., John Lund, formerly of the 24th Wis. and a native of Norway, 49 years old. He resided at Larned, Kan., but was sting his old home, Milwaukee. PHELPS. - Philo Phelps, at Dexter, N. Y.; a mem-

SRAMAN,-At Grinnell, Iowa, Oct. 15, Horace Seain, Co. E, 118th N. Y., a member of Gordon Granger Post, No. 61, from the effects of sunstroke while in the service. FARIS.-E. P. Faris, Co. G, 47th Ill., 48 years old it Pomona, Cal. He was a member of Greenfiel Post, Greenfield, Iowa.

GIRSON.-Commander Navy, died Oct. 24, at Atlantic City, N. J., aged 62 years. He was born in Maryland in August, 1825, ntered the service 1841, and was retired last June WRIGHT.-Comrade Lyman Wright died recently at Defiance, Shelby Co., Iowa. He was at the battle of Wilson's Creek, Mo., in 1861, in the 1st Iowa, at served afterward in Co. D. 35th Iowa. Cole,-Ithumer O. Cole, at Greenwood, R. I. Oct. 8, a veteran of the 2d R. I. and a member of Thomas Post, Apponaug, R. I. Nicuelson.-Rear-Admiral John W. A. Nicholon, U. S. Navy, died Oct, 28, at his home in New York, aged 65 years. He entered the service from

New York in 1838 and rose gradually until reaching the grade of Rear-Admiral in October, 1881, and was placed on the retired list for age in 1884, performed distinguished services during the Mexican war and the rebellion. He was known throughout the Navy as "War Horse" Nicholson for his reputation as a martinet, but no officer or blue-jacket who thoroughly performed the duty assigned him ever had cause to fear his stern

TRIBUNETS. HE WAS BUSINESS.

Wurzel: "O. Percy, I'm so afraid you have offended pa. Not intentionally, I know, dear; but you are so impulsive, and sometimes inconsiderate." Percy de Muggins:

Pauline Van Mangel-

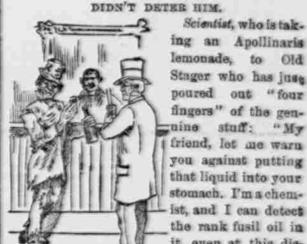

occasionally, you mean, darling. What makes you think I've ruffled his nibs?" "O. Percy, don't use such dreadful slang in speaking of my father." "All right; I'll cheese it. What have I done now to cool off your esteemed progenitor?"

"Dear, I don't know. Only the other ever ing at supper, when your name was mentioned. he said to me that he was disappointed in your business judgment. It wasn't at all what he

"Disappointed in my business judgment! What can that mean? What have I done? Le'me see. O, yes, I remember now. I lent him $10 at the baseball grounds without taking his note or any security. I'll straighten that out mighty quick, and recover his good opinion. I'll wake him to-morrow morning with a sharp dun, and if he don't pay on the nail I'll scalp him with an execution." "O, Percy, you are such a darling."

DIDN'T DETER HIM.

that liquid into your stomach. I'm a chemist, and I can detect the rank fusil oil in it, even at this dis-

Scientist, who is taking an Apollinaris

lemonade, to Old

Stager who has just poured out "four

fingers" of the gen-

Old Stager: "Will that 'ere-what d' ye' call it-keep it from makin' drunk come?" Scientist: "No, I'm sorry to say, that it assists in the awful work of intoxication." Old Stager: "Well, then, I guess I'll just take a couple fingers more of it."

> NAMING THE BABY. Young Lethers We are having such be at all right to give such an extraordinary child one of these dreadfully common names such as Thomas, John, Peter, James and so on, and we are at a loss to decide between Algernon, Reginald and Swithin. It is very perplexing, Father, whose first-born now wears whiskers; "Just wait till he has the colic some night, and you have to walk the floor in your nightshirt with him from 12 to 4. You won't be at any loss what to call him then, and some of the names you'll give him will make your wife's hair curl."

THAT WAS NO PLAYING. Pious Old Gentle-

faning the Lord's Day, playing ball." Bright Little Boy : "You call this play-- in' ball, do you? Well, I don't. This ain't no ball playin'. Them little chumps can't play ball to save their lives. I'm nan: "I'm awfully

sorry to see you

goin' to shake the whole gang, an' go over to the Holler, where the Brickyard Nine and the Yallerheads are playin' for 'shiners.'"

One of the richest Chicago pork-packers is a Hebrew. - Newspaper Rem. Well, why is not pork-packing appropriate for a son of H-? Hold on; boy, just bring us that Bible. Let's see. O, the Israelites were not sons of Ham, either. They were descendants of Shem. There is a good joke spoiled just because the facts will not hold out, An Ohio murderer, whose departure hence is set for the 18th, has been baptized, and now announces that "I am an entirely new man. I never was so happy in all my life." All the same, he postponed his regeneration until the Supreme Court had refused to grant a stay of PROMINENT literary men are now contributing to the magazines lists of "Books Which Have Helped Me." Very singularly none of them include the books which have helped them the most: the Unabridged Dictionary and the American Cyclopedia.

THE change to cool-weather diet makes seasonable the venerable conundrum: Why are hot buckwheat cakes like the cat-

Because it is the grub which makes the but-

"The Earth Trembled" is the title of E. P Roe's latest novel. This is probably a descripreaching 64 years of age. He served in the volun- tion of what some new-fledged statesman examong those who made tremendous sacri- the circulation of THE NATIONAL TRIB- teers during the war, from November, 1861, until pected would happen when he arrived in